Koland Named President of NWRA

CARRINGTON (December 31, 2014) - Dave Koland, General Manager of the Garrison Diversion Conservancy District, has been named President of the National Water Resources Association (NWRA), a distinction and honor for both Dave and the state of North Dakota.

For nearly 20 years, Dave has represented the state of North Dakota in the NWRA. He was elected as 2nd Vice President in 2011, and then continued as 1st Vice President in 2013. He will begin 2015 as President of the organization and serve a two-year term.

“The NWRA is an association of the Western states working together to further the interests of municipalities and irrigators in water development,” says Koland.

The mission of the NWRA is to advocate federal policies, legislation, and regulations promoting protection, management, development, and beneficial use of water resources.

The NWRA is a nonprofit organization of agricultural and municipal water providers, state associations and individuals dedicated to conservation, enhancement and efficient management of water, one of the most valuable natural resources available. For over 80 years, the NWRA has been providing clean water to families, farms, businesses and communities throughout the West.
